POETRY.

We extract the following from the "Laure," a collection of American Poetry, about to be published by E. R. Broaders.

HYMN AT MIDNIGHT.—By Park Benjamin.

Source of all life and joy and light !
  Creator of each starry sphere,
That o'er me on the arch of Night,
  Gleams like a diamond, bright and clear—
Oh, as I gaze, transported now,
  Upon this blue, resplendent dome,
Deign but to hear my prayer that Thou
  Wilt call my erring spirit home.

Home from the world's fast fading bowers,
  Frail visions and deluding dreams,
To that fair clime of Eden flowers
  Sweet airs and softly gliding streams.
Oh, make me feel that while I stay,
  A sojourner and stranger here
My soul must seek its homeward way
  Far, far beyond each starry sphere !

I kneel before thy gorgeous throne,
  Upon thy footstool, King of Kings !
And gazing on the glories strown
  Beneath the Holy Spirit's wings,
Abject and weak my awe-struck heart
  Would from thy dreadful presence flee,
If, Saviour, thou did'st not impart
  Rays of undying hope to me.

As yonder faint and glimmering star
  Receives its lustre from the sun,
Though from its fiery splendors far ;
  So from thy love, Almighty One,
My spirit drinks immortal light—
  Oh, never may that light decay,
But, like yon diamond of the Night,
  In Heaven's own beauty melt away !

Sir Arthur.—A man of ours, of the name of Taylor, wore a head so remarkably like Lord Wellington's that he was dubbed "Sir Arthur" at the commencement of the war, and retained the name until the day of his death. At Rueda he was the servant of the good, the gallant Charles Eeles, who afterwards fell at Waterloo. Sir Arthur, in all his movements for twenty years, had been as regular as Shrewsbury clock ;—he cleaned his master's clothes and boots, and paraded his traps in the morning, and in the evening he got blind drunk, unless the means were wanting. In one so noted for regularity as he was, it is but reasonable to expect that his absence at toilet time would be missed and wondered at : he could not have gone over to the enemy, for he was true-blue for that. He could not have gone to heaven without passing through the pains of death—he was too great a sinner for that. He could not have gone down without passing through the aforesaid ceremony, for nobody was ever known to do so but one man, to recover his wife, and, as Sir Arthur had no wife, he had surely no inducement to go there : in short, the cause of his disappearance remained clouded in mystery for twenty-five hours, but would have been cleared up in the tenth part of the time, had not the rifleman, who had been in the habit of sipping out of the same favorite cask, been on guard in the interim, but as soon as he was relieved, he went his usual visit, and in stooping in the dark over the edge of the large headless butt to take his accostomed sip, his nose came in contact with that of poor Sir Arthur, which, like that of his great prototype, was of no mean dimensions, and and who was floating on the surface of his favorite liquid, into which he must have dived deeper than he intended and got swamped. Thus perished Sir Arthur a little beyond the prime of life, but, in what the soldiers considered a prime death !—Kincard's Random Shots

The Rose of Sharon.—Two hours beyond, the road verges from the shore, and enters the rich pastureland of the valley of Sharon, clothed with fresh verdure as far as the eye can reach. The white clover springs spontaneously, and, among the variety of shrubs and flowers, were a few dwarf tulips. I observed nothing bearing the appearance of what we call a rose ; and, unless the "rose of Sharon" is the cistus roscus of Linnæus, which grows abundantly, I know not what it may be. This tract of land, glorious as it is to the eye, is yet deficient in water in its central part : and, for this reason, appears not to be frequented even by the Arabs ; I traversed it for hours without noticing a single tent. The grass and the flowers spring to waste their sweetness, and to fall unseen ; and the storks, striding to and fro, are the only animals by which they are visited. The soil is light, and the surface elastic ; and the uneven fore-ground swells into hills to the east, which are backed by the mountains of Samaria beyond. Monro's Summer Ramble in Syria.

An Aristocratic Ostler.—At the late Doncaster races, an ostler had one of the small bones of his leg fractured by a kick, and was making sad lamentations during the time the surgeon was setting it to rights.—"Do not make such a fuss about a trifle," said the medicus, "you will be right again in a few days."—"Do not think, Doctor," said the sufferer, "that I should have uttered one word of complaint if the Queen of Trumps, or any real good thorough bred, had broken my legs in a playful kick ; but to have even a small bone broken by a brute of a jackass is really too bad, and more than any respectable ostler can bear without complaining."

Forensic Wit.—At the last Gloucester Assizes, whilst Mr Alexander was busily engaged in the cross-examination of a witness, he was interrupted by one learned brother, on his right, who, addressing the bench, said—"My Lord, I apprehend"—but he in his turn was as suddenly stopped short in his commentary, by the interruption of another learned friend on Mr Alexander's left, who began to address the Judge in the same phraseology, "Mr Lord, I apprehend"—whereupon Mr Alexander thus drily addressed the Bench—"My Lord, what am I to do ? here I stand between two apprehensions—while I seek only for one fact."

Diogenes being asked of what beast the bite is most dangerous, answered, "Of wild beasts, that of a slanderer ; of tame that of a flatterer.

An Athenean who wanted eloquence, but was very brave, when another had, in a long brilliant speech, promised great affairs, got up and said, "Men of Athens, all that he has said, I will do !"

A well-known toper fell in a fever, which greatly increased his thirst ; when the physicians were deliberating on the means of removing both, the patient gravely begged that they would confine themselves to the office and task of removing the fever, leaving to himself the care of the thirst.

'The dust is quite astonishing to-day—surely we had a great deal of rain yesterday,' said a traveller in Ireland to the driver of his car. 'Oh ! is it rain, yer honor,' replied the whip—'bless you, sir, it's nothing in Ireland, which is so dry that there was plenty of dust on the roads the day after the Deluge.'

TO PERSONS SUFFERING FROM RHEUMATIC COMPLAINTS.

To the Editor of the Inquirer :

SIR—On the principles inculcated by the great and good Dr Franklin, to diffuse as widely as possible every means in our power to mitigate or soften the afflictions of suffering humanity, I felt it incumbent upon me to make known through the medium of your useful paper that on reading therein an advertisement of Dr Jebb's Liniment, for the cure of RHEUMATISM, I was forcibly impressed with a belief that it was calculated to remove the severe Rheumatic Affection to which I had been for seven or eight years subjected, sometimes almost depriving me of the use of my limbs. I accordingly procured a Bottle, and before I had used the whole of it, found very sensible relief. This increased my confidence in it, and led me to obtain another bottle, the use of which has completely removed the swellings and pains of my limbs, together with the cramp, and restored them to their wonted vigor.

I am respectfully yours,
GEORGE TAYLOR, JR.
Hempstead, L. I., March 24th.

Persons suffering from the above complaints, and in despair of a cure from the failure of the various remedies they have used, are invited to make trial of this long and celebrated medicine, which has in years passed cured and relieved, as it is now doing, thousands who had despaired of relief. Nothing but a fair trial can give an adequate idea of its unrivalled excellence. It is also one of the best applications known for stiffness of the joints, numbness, sprains and chilblains.

Price 50 cents.

THE BOSTON MORNING POST.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 1, 1836.

Eighteen Hundred and Thirty Six!—May all our readers find it a happier year than eighteen hundred and thirty five. But this, although our warmest wish, we cannot expect. Every period brings its own joys and sorrows with it; youth has its clouds and its sunshine—manhood its hopes and doubts—age its wisdom and infirmities. The true philosophy is to use the present to the best advantage. Deny not yourself the pleasure that to-day offers, because to-morrow may be the messenger of grief. Life is uncertain—death positive—we should use the one so as to be willing to meet the other. If calamities fall thickly upon us, we should thank that kind Being who has endowed us with reason, that we are enabled to endure His severest dispensations with fortitude—that no condition, however forlorn, is without hope of improvement. Are we deprived of parents, children, friends, and all the world's pleasures, we are taught to rely upon One whose existence is eternal, and whose care is over all things.

Nothing tends so much to our own happiness and the promotion of others' comfort, 'as the cultivation of a cheerful disposition—a generous, benevolent temperament. Human nature is generally possessed of a super-abundance of irritability and jealousy; to obviate these ills, as much as possible, which spring from these defects, requires a constant watchfulness over, and struggle with, the evil passions they excite. A man determined to make every one around him as happy as possible, cannot avoid being happy himself; in his benevolent exertion to benefit others, he enriches his own heart with treasures more precious than gold. We have all much to forgive, and to be forgiven for—and no liberality is so lofty, so heavenly, so becoming to humanity, as that which returns good for evil.—It is in truth, 'twice bless'd.' And now, kind readers, we ask you to exercise that charity toward us, that we have recommended toward all mankind. An Editor's situation is not the most enviable condition in the world, and if he sometimes offend you by his imprudence, or injustice, remember the imperfections of his nature, the difficult task he is called upon to perform, the thousand unseen influences with which he is constantly surrounded, the treachery of selfish advisers, and attribute his errors as much to his head as his heart.

Never was our happy country in a more prosperous condition—never did its inhabitants enjoy greater facilities for moral and intellectual cultivation. That this prosperity may be continued, and these advantages increased from year to year, should be the prayer of every good christian and patriotic citizen.

The Wilberforce Colony, upon Lake Erie, Upper Canada, is the name of a settlement of blacks who were expelled from Cincinnati, Ohio, by an Act of the Legislature in 1831. 'The Colony has been constantly increasing since its first settlement, and is at this time in a flourishing condition. Mr Lewis, Agent for the Colony, is now endeavoring to collect a sufficient sum by subscription to establish there a Manual Labor School. He bears satisfactory testimonials of his authority to act in its behalf, and of his upright character. He has visited New York, and several other places, where he has met with encouragement from individuals eminent for their intelligence and philanthropy, and comes here strongly recommended by them as worthy of public favor. He has appointed Mr Henry Scott, of Worcester, as an Agent to assist him in the New England States. Either Mr Lewis or Mr Scott will wait upon the inhabitants of Boston, in the course of a few days, for the purpose of asking their aid in establishing the School before alluded to, which we hope will be liberally extended.

☞ Among the numerous Whig candidates who have been named for the office of Secretary of the Commonwealth, we have heard none less objectionable than John P. Bigelow, Esq. He is a gentleman of talents, and of an obliging disposition—well acquainted with the affairs of the State, and fully competent to the discharge of the duties of Secretary. If he were only a Democrat he would do very well; but as he is not, we hope that some good intelligent and industrious man, of the true Jeffersonian and Jackson school of politics will be chosen. If the Democratic members of the Legislature are all prompt in their attendance at its opening, they will be able to accomplish more than they probably anticipate. "A word," &c.

☞ Considerable interest has been excited in the community for the distressed mother whose conduct at the Police Court, relative to a separation from her two little sons, was described in our paper of Wednesday. We have received several communications upon the subject, but have not room for them this morning.—Perhaps the best evidence of true sympathy would be to restore the children to their agonized parent, and the bail required is one hundred and twenty dollars for each. It is very questionable whether it be wise or humane to punish petty larceny in juvenile offenders so severely in all cases as the law provides. Justice should be tempered with mercy.

Hannah More's Works.—A beautiful uniform edition, in seven volumes, comprising the complete Works of Hannah More, has just been issued by the Messrs Harpers, New York. The high intellectual and moral character of Mrs MORE's productions has rendered them standard Works, and as such will be sought by every one whose means will enable them to become their possessors. The present is a very handsome and cheap edition, and one that must be satisfactory to the public taste.

Dr Channing's worshippers wince most lamentably in beholding the evaporation of his sweet sentiments from the crucible of sound investigation into which 'A Citizen of Massachusetts' thrusted them—the heat was too great—they perished in the using, like most of the Doctor's intellectual odour. Neither whining nor canting can help the matter. Let the lackadaisical tribe refute the 'Remarks' if they can.

The house of Bishop M'Ilvaine, at Gambia, Ohio, took fire about 2 o'clock on the morning of the 18th ult.—the west end was very much damaged, probably to the amount of 1000 or $1200—most of the furniture saved.

Free Banking.—I am sensible, Mr Editor, that your columns are not sufficiently spacious, to admit of a discussion between "Equal Laws" and myself, upon the subject of banking. I shall therefore only say a few words by way of explanation. After reading his article in the Post of Dec. 29, I am induced to believe that we do not clearly understand each other. It appears to me very evident, that he has not, in some cases at least, rightly apprehended my meaning. For example, he represents me as speaking of corruption and want of judgment in legislators, with regard to distributing banking privileges to improper individuals or associations. My meaning was, not that improper individuals were favored, but that legislators were themselves so interested in banks, that laws were made to favor the banks, rather than to secure the public—and that the best possible laws for the general good could not, for this reason, be obtained or continued long in force. Thus, the reservation of a legislative power to alter, amend, or repeal any bank charter, at the pleasure of the legislature, which was found by experience, a few years ago, to be so much required with regard to all corporations, is now, by shrewd and dexterous management, relinquished and become void.

I understood "Equal Laws" to say, in regard to banking monopolies, that they were violations of individual right, and that banking should be free to all our citizens. This principle I thought he very clearly expressed. To this my reply was, in substance, that the only monopoly or exclusive privilege enjoyed by banking corporations was that of liberty to issue bank notes for circulation as money—not merely small bills, but bills of all sizes not less than a dollar. All other banking privileges are open to any citizen or any company of citizens, without an act of incorporation. This one privilege, I thought, was properly denied to individuals, as dangerous to the public; and as proof of this, I stated the consequences which formerly resulted from an emission of small bills by certain irresponsible individuals. Small bills were particularly stated, because I knew of no instance where bills larger than than those for four dollars had ever been emitted by individuals for circulation as money. But individuals are prohibited by law from making bills of any amount, to pass as currency. From these premises I infer that there is no monopoly or exclusive privilege about banking in this State, except this single one just mentioned; and also, that this restriction upon individuals is a very necessary and wholesome one. Therefore, so far as regards the question of bank monopoly, there is, it seems to me, no just ground of complaint.

The act "to prevent private banking," passed in 1833, provides, "that if any person shall issue or pass any note, bill, order, or check, other than foreign bills of exchange, or the notes or bills of some bank, incorporated, &c. &c. with the intent that the same shall be circulated as currency, he shall forfeit and pay for every such offence, the sum of fifty dollars," &c. &c.—I believe this short act, of only one section, as above quoted, contains all the "restraints" or "restrictions" against private banking, which exist in this State. Banking therefore appears to be by law, perfectly free and without monopoly with us, excepting only so far as it is controlled by the single, wholesome restriction created by this act. That is, individuals have all the rights and privileges of banking, which banking corporations have, with only this single necessary exception. I would go into an examination of the article of "Equal Laws" more fully and minutely, only that I know you could not find room for so voluminous a discussion as would necessarily follow.

Travellers from New York, via the New Haven steamboats, will do their Boston friends a great favor by putting in their pockets the New York papers of the morning on which they leave that city. The mail, in consequence of being brought all the way by land, does not arrive, at best, until several hours after the steamboat passengers have reached the city.

Bad Luck.—Burden, the ingenious but unfortunate mechanic, recently engaged to deliver a little steamboat, made after his plan, at the canal basin, in New Haven. While on her way there, she was wrecked on the 6th ult., on Fantos Neck—the machinery was saved. This is the second boat he has lost before he could have an opportunity to test the utility of his plan.

A mulatto Indian named David Davis, was killed a few nights since, at a low grog shop, called the Siberian Hotel, in New Haven. There was a carousal among five or six sailors, in which the deceased was stabbed to the heart. A fellow named Allen has been arrested on suspicion.

Hope Deferred.—S. S. Southworth writes from Washington that he was the first man who advocated Mr Clay's interests north of the Potomac, and that he did so at the expense of all he had on earth. For all this, he feelingly says, his only requital was "injustice and cold and withering neglect."

A duel between two officers of the U. S. ship Constellation took place about the 19th November, at St Croix. The belligerent parties were a Mr Baldwin and a Mr May—the former was severely wounded. They fought without seconds, each holding a corner of a silk handkerchief.

☞ The great effort of the Whig presses appears to be to keep Massachusetts from abandoning Mr Webster. They have given up all hopes of every other State, and are now shaking in their shoes for the homestead.

☞ We have received a long communication about some Chelsea cows, calves, and the Transcript—but as we did not see the article in the Transcript, to which the communication alludes, "it is all Greek" to us.

Cousin Tony, the new and successful afterpiece, written for Mr Jones' benefit at the Warren, on Wednesday night, was by Mrs Asbury, a lady of much literary, as well as histrionic talent.

A Post Office Department has been established in Texas, and Mr John R. Jones, formerly a Postmaster somewhere in the United States, has been appointed Postmaster General.

☞ We learn that Dr. Bartlett is hereafter to be associated with Mr Pepper in the Editorial management o the Boston Pilot, formerly the Catholic Sentinel.

Mendizabel, the new Spanish Minister of Finance, the English Tories, and French and Spanish Carlists, detest on account of his liberal principles. A Correspondent of a London Tory paper gives a long account of him, from which we glean the following. What degree of credit is due to the Englishman's history of the Spaniard, we cannot say, but think it should be taken with many grains of allowance.

Mendizabel is the son of a Jew at Cadiz, who formerly kept a small slop-shop in the town, Rue Juan de-Andas, principally resorted to by sailors and soldiers. The duties of this young man consisted for the most part in serving the customers, in which situation he acquitted himself much to his credit. His character in this way had even exceeded the limits of his quarter and no chapman in Cadiz knew better how to solicit for custom, or cut a yard of broad cloth with greater dexterity. In 1818, the Jew Alvarez Mendez, being made bankrupt in spite of his son's caution and talents, was driven to the necessity of carrying on with the latter the trade of a hawker. Both saw themselves shortly reduced to the last stage of want, when the revolt in the Isle of Leon broke out.

The young adventurer took the "ball at the hop," waited on the Revolutionary chief Riego, and, by his address, was named Inspector of Division to the insurrectional army. From this appointment he dates the origin of his good fortune. The insurgents, it is well known, overran the south of Spain for a great length of time. While the chiefs of their body harrangued the populationes Andoulouses, and brought many to their standard, Mendizabel, under pretence of victualling and clothing his troop, levied contributions on the country. It is very well known that Riego, in less than a month, had instilled into the minds of the people the spirit with which he was imbued; but it is not quite so well known that Mendizabel, in less time than that, had succeeded in draining their purses.

When Ferdinand the Seventh saw himself—the poniard at his breast—forced to ratify the Constitution, and confirm the appointments made in the revolutionary army, the fortunate Mendizabel found himself also confirmed in his Inspectorship; and set off without loss of time for Madrid, under the auspices of Riego and Quiroga, to renew the course of their financial exploits, which were so unexpectedly interrupted by the French army in 1823. Then it was that he quitted Spain, rather precipitately, it should seem—but even not then with his hands entirely empty. In 1818 he had arrived at Riego's camp, wretched and barefooted; at this time his fortune was enormous. Such is the man to whose keeping has just been entrusted the fate of revolutionized Spain. I know not (says the English Correspondent,) what financial arrangements are making to re-establish the affairs of state; but this we may know, by experience, that they will in no way disarrange his.

☞ It will be recollected that on all imported goods paying more than 20 per cent duty, one twentieth of the excess over the 20 per cent is deducted on and after this day, until the first of January 1838.

The Globe publishes a treaty of peace, commerce, and alliance between New Granada and the State of the Equator, (Quito) which was negotiated three years ago, but has been very recently ratified.

☞ A man has sent us a communication about Dr Graham's last Lecture, written with a pencil—cannot read half of it, therefore shall not print any of it.

Commerce of Boston.—The number of foreign arrivals into this port, during the years 1829, was 663; 1830, 648; 1831, 769; 1832, 1064; 1833, 1067; 1834, 1156; 1835, 1302.

The number of foreign clearances during the year 1829, was 524; 1830, 561; 1831, 679; 1832, 943; 1833, 935; 1834, 1003; 1835, 1221.

The arrivals and clearances during the present year are more than during any previous year, since the adoption of the present Constitution.

The report in circulation last week in this village, that a vessel came on shore at Truro, and that three bodies had been picked up, must be unfounded. Letters from that place make no mention of it, and men that we have seen from Wellfleet had heard nothing about it.—Barnstable Jour.

German Mode of preventing Tippling.—The following order was issued in 1828, by the Mayor of a department in the Isere:—'All persons drinking and tippling on Sundays and holidays, in coffee-houses, &c., during the celebration of Mass or Vespers, are hereby authorized to depart without paying for what they have had.

Columbus, Geo., Dec. 11.—Steamboat Accident.—The beautiful and well constructed steam boat Ellen, brought upon our waters last season, was snagged and sunk last Friday, in ascending the river to Columbus. The accident occurred near Porter's Ferry, midway between Columbus and Apalachicola. The whole, or nearly all of her cargo, amounting to 60 or $70,000, we learn, is lost—nearly all of which, we understand, was insured.

The Medical Intelligencer states that the smallpox has been introduced into Needham within a few days, by a traveller from New York. Several cases of varioloid have appeared in Boston, the past week. The patients were immediately removed to the hospital, and are all doing exceedingly well.

Retort.—A barrister, meeting a priest on horseback, told his companions he would have some good fun with him, and accordingly went up to the ecclesiastic and thus addressed him, "Pray, Sir, how is it that you are riding on a horse, while your great master contented himself with an ass?" "Because," replied the priest, "so many asses have been made barristers that I cannot obtain one for myself!"

Liqueurs were invented for the use of Louis XIV in his old age, when he could scarcely endure existence without a succession of artificial stimulants. His appetite in the prime of life was prodigious.

The large six story brick building in Shippen street, Philadelphia, occupied by Jacob Beale as a sugar refinery, was badly damaged by fire on Saturday night last.

MUNICIPAL COURT.

A Female Pick Pocket.—Miss Elizabeth Rice was indicted for stealing $108 from a young man from Derry, N. H., named Benjamin Eastman, in the 2d row of the Warren Theatre. The principal witness against her was the said

Benj. Eastman—I had been in the bar of the second row, and while there I treated a couple of girls to something to drink—they came up to me and asked me to treat—"O yes," says I; "what'll ye have." I believe they took some wine, and I paid for it. I then went into the boxes to see the play, and while I was leaning against the rail, a young lady, in green spectacles, who I have since ascertained to be Elizabeth Rice, the prisoner, came up, and asked me to go and ride home with her—she put her face right up close to mine. I said I could'nt go—she came again, and put her hands on my clothes, and asked me, but I could'nt go. She soon after went out, and I did not see her again that evening. In the morning, I perceived my money was gone

The testimony of the young gentleman would not have implicated Miss Rice very deeply, if she had not clinched this single suspicious circumstance by several equivocal sayings and doings subsequently. She drove from the Warren to the Tremont Theatre, and at the bar of the Third Row "displayed a bunch of bills all squashed up," to the amount of $70; but when interrogated the next day whether she did go to the Tremont, she at first denied point blank that she had been there on the previous evening at all, but at length admitted that she had gone as far as the door, but did not get out of her carriage. She persisted in denying the theft, but offered to sell all her goods and chattels for the benefit of Eastman, if he would not prosecute. This proposition was construed into an admission of guilt, and she was jailed, and Grand Juried. At her trial, she instructed her counsel to account for her being in possession of so much money, by saying she received it from a gentleman for the maintenance of a child she was bringing up—a sort of a niece, like—"and whom she felt bound in honor not to expose."

The Jury, after being out some time, came in, and inquired of the Judge, if Miss Elizabeth was bound to prove how she came by the $70. The Judge replied, that the law knew nothing about the principle of "honor" which restrained her from establishing a fact so essential to her safety in her hour of peril. The law could make no allowance for her honor in not exposing the gentleman, and she had at her command the power of the whole Commonwealth to bring him into Court, and put him on the stand as a witness in her behalf; and if she refused to avail herself of her privilege and right to do so, then the jury must decide upon the case precisely as if no such suggestion had been thrown out. The jury again retired, and after another set-to of half an hour, came in with a verdict of GUILTY. Before she was sentenced yesterday, her counsel read a letter from her to her "gentleman," which he had intercepted, the post-script to which contained an intimation that she was not the actual thief. It takes more than one to make a bargain, or pick a pocket well. Pick-pockets hunt in pairs frequently—one "takes," and the other "carries," and in the present case Miss Elizabeth played the part of "carry." His Honor was not much moved in her favor by this discovery, and sent the honorable lady to the House of Correction for two years.

THE SOUTHERN MAIL

Arrived at nine o'clock last evening.

It was generally understood at Washington on Monday, that Mr Taney had that day been nominated to the Senate for the vacant Chief Justiceship.

Bennett's New York Herald has a cock-and-bull story about a war message being in preparation in consequence of despatches received by the Silvia de Grasse—it is not entitled to a moment's notice.

Benjamin S. Bonsall has been elected Marshal for the eastern district of Pennsylvania.

Congress.—In the Senate, on Monday, Mr Clay gave notice through Mr Crittenden, that he would introduce his land bill on Tuesday. Mr Calhoun gave notice that he should on Tuesday ask leave to introduce a bill to regulate the deposits of the public money of the United States. A bill to change the Constitution of the United States: and a bill in relation to the mail and for other purposes, (not distinctly understood.)

A memorial from 125 citizens of New York in relation to the late fire was presented and referred to the committee on finance. The Senate spent some time in Executive business and then adjourned.

In the House, the Message of the President transmitting the State Constitution of Michigan was referred to the Committee on the Judiciary. The vote by which the Message of the President in relation to the disputed boundary between Ohio and Michigan, was referred to a Select Committee, was re-considered, and the subject was referred to the Judiciary Committee.

The crew and passengers of the schooner Madawaska (which sailed from New York about a month since with 200 volunteers for Texas) were in prison at Nassau (N. P.) on the 10th ult., on a charge of piracy. It seems they lost their reckoning, and when about eight or ten days out found themselves among the Bahama Banks and Islands. The Capt. sent a boat with seventeen men on shore, where the men got drunk, and with drawn pistols and swords threatened the lives of the inhabitants, and robbed them of whatever they wanted. This indiscretion being made known at the English Naval station at Nassau, two gun ships were sent in pursuit of the Madawaska, and found and took possession of her after about a week's search. The men were imprisoned there, and were to be tried in a few days, when it was thought all except the boat's crew would be set at liberty.

A letter from New Orleans 15th ult. published in the Journal of Commerce, states that Gen. Mejia's landing near Tampico has failed, and that he has been compelled to retreat to Brassoria, (Texas) with the rest of his followers.

Piracy.—We learn from Capt. Isley, of the brig Leo, which arrived here on Monday last from Matanzas, that news had just been received from Madeusa, (Cuba,) that an American and a Spanish brig near that place had been captured by the pirates in an open boat, and all on board murdered. The authorities had sent a vessel in pursuit of them.—Jour. Com.

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, }
DISTRICT OF MASSACHUSETTS. }
BOSTON, December 31, 1835.

Pursnant to a warrant from the District Court I hereby give notice that a Libel is filed before said Court by Daniel Eldridge, Master Mariner, in behalf of himself and nine other persons, wherein it is alleged that on the seventeenth day of December current they discovered a signal of distress from a schooner then lying off the outer end of Pollock Rip, that in the evening of said day about nine o'clock, they reached said schooner in two boats, the wind blowing a gale and the weather intensely cold, that they found said vessel to be the Schooner Harriet, loaded with corn and flour, that with great labor, peril and exertion they succeeded in saving said vessel and cargo, consisting of about seven hundred barrels of flour, and about two hundred and fifty bushels of corn into the harbor of Chatham where she now lies. Wherefore they pray that admiralty process may issue against said vessel and cargo, and that they may be allowed a reasonable salvage, and that such other proceedings may be had in the premises as the Court shall order: and that trial will be had on said Libel at a District Court to be held at Boston, on the sixteenth day of January next at 11 o'clock A. M. All persons interested will take notice and govern themselves accordingly.

ADAMS'S PATENT

SWELLED BEAM

THE subscriber has on hand a good assortment of the Swelled Beam Windlass Bedsteads, which, for comfort and convenience is undoubtedly the best article yet invented; its chief peculiarity is that of the Swelled Beam, the effect of which is to produce a crowning, and elastic sacking, and effectually provides against its saging. They are easily set up or taken down, and may be saved in case of fire as easily as any other piece of furniture, and from its mode of construction less liable to harbor insects than any other kind; but above all its advantages is the ease and comfort obtained from the sacking, by means of its being made and kept elastic by means of the Swelled Beam, (the form of which is exhibited in the above cut.)

Orders thankfully received, and promptly attended to
CHARLES ADAMS, Patentee,
422 Washington st. a few doors south of Washington Bank.

C. A. has added a steam power to his manufactory which will enable him to give a full supply at a cheaper rate than hertofore.

BOSTON ACADEMY OF PENMANSHIP AND BOOK-KEEPING,

No. 2 Amory Hall.

(Corner of Washington and West streets.)

MESSRS. RICHARDSON & STRATTON, having associated themselves in business, for the purpose of instruction in Penmanship, Book Keeping and Arithmetic, beg leave to offer the citizens of Boston and the public generally a prospectus of the course pursued by them.

PENMANSHIP.

Messrs Richardson & Stratton, are both so well known to the Boston public, as teachers of Penmanship, and have taught that art with so much success in this city, that it will perhaps be unnecessary to say any thing further of their system of instruction, the merits of which are so universally acknowledged. For the information, however, of persons who reside at a distance, and may be desirous of being taught the above branches, they beg leave to add, that the system is simple and natural, and will readily remove that stiffness of the arm and fingers which is so embarrassing, and which other professors have heretofore almost entirely failed to accomplish.

BOOK-KEEPING.

In the department of Book-Keeping, Messrs. R. & S. have had much personal experience, and have also derived valuable information from several eminent merchants of this city, which enables them to combine the elementary instructions of the master, with the practical improvements of the merchant. They propose to initiate young gentlemen, who are about entering upon Commercial Business, not to teach merchants. They do not pretend to have made any new inventions or discoveries, but will, in all cases follow the most approved precedents of mercantile experience, and give their pupils such practice, as will enable them, when they arrive at the Counting-house, to transact business with precision and despatch.

Classes in session morning, afternoon and evening.

BAKING ESTABLISHMENT—No 122 Court st—The subscriber (late of the firm of WINSHIP & HEWES) respectfully informs his friends and the public, that he has taken the above establishment, formerly occupied by Mrs S. B. Burnham, where he intends carrying on the BAKING business in all its various branches.

The undersigned would take this opportunity to return thanks to his old patrons for their liberal favors; and to express his regret that any untoward circumstances should have prevented for a time his supplying them with bread manufactured under his own supervision. He would assure them, however, that he is now prepared to answer all their calls and to furnish them with bread of every kind, of the very first order. His French Rolls, in particular, which have given so much satisfaction heretofore, will be found to possess their usual excellent qualities—rich, nutritive, healthful, sweet—and they who may discover the absence of these qualities, where they have found them very recently, may find them now by calling as above. His Family Bread, too, he may say with confidence, will give no less satisfaction than formerly, and he will spare no pains to make both the Rolls and Family Bread of uniform excellence.

A supply of every variety of Cake will be kept constantly on hand; and a share of public patronage is respectfully solicited

FLAX CANVASS.

Navy Commissioner's Office, Washington, 16th December, 1835.

PROPOSALS, sealed and endorsed "Proposals to furnish Canvass," will be received at this office until 3 o'clock, P. M., of the 25th day of January next, for supplying the following quantities of flax canvass, viz:—

2400 bolts of	No 1,	each bolt to weigh not less than			47½	lbs.
300 do	No 2,	do	do	do	42½	do
300 do	No 3,	do	do	do	35	do
300 do	No 4,	do	do	do	32½	do
300 do	No 5,	do	do	do	30	do
150 do	No 6,	do	do	do	25	do
90 do	No 7,	do	do	do	22½	do
98 do	No 8,	do	do	do	20	do

Each bolt to contain 40 yards, and to be twenty inches in width, and the whole to be manufactured from the best quality of water rotted flax, well hatchelled, and free from tow. The yarn must be freed from mucilage before it is woven, by boiling it in weak alkaline ley, and the whole must be woven without starch or sizing. Each bolt must have a blue thread at such distance from each selvage, as may hereafter be directed by the Navy Commissioners. Samples of No 1, No 5, and of No 6, will be lodged at the respective yards by the Board, to which the deliveries of those numbers must conform in quality; and the persons who may send proposals, must send to this office in time for comparison, when the offers are opened, at least four yards of the numbers 2, 3, 7 and 8, as samples by which their offers may be regulated, and upon which they are to be compared. It is wished that the samples may correspond, in general quality with those furnished by the Board, according to their relative numbers.

The numbers 1, 2, and 3, are to be woven from double threaded yarn, slightly twisted; numbers 4 and 5 must have the warp of double threaded yarn, and the filling of single threads; numbers 6, 7 and 8 to be of single threads.

The whole to be conformable to the samples which may be adopted, and subject to such inspection and tests as the Commissioners of the Navy may direct, and be entirely satisfactory to the Commandants of the yards at the respective places of delivery. One third of each quantity to be delivered at each of the respective Navy Yards, at Charlestown, Mass., Brooklyn, N. Y., and Gosport, Va., and at least one half of each number of the canvass to be delivered on or before the first day of June next, and the remainder on or before the first day of August next, and no extension of time to be granted.

No payment will be made for a less quantity than one hundred bolts; nor then until twenty days after the canvass shall have passed inspection, and the bills for the same be duly approved by the Commandants of the yards.

Ten per centum to be retained by the United States on the amount of all deliveries for which bills may be approved, until the final completion of the contract, as security in addition to the bond which will be required; and to be forfeited to the United States, in case of a failure to perform the contract according to all its stipulations

Separate proposals to be made for the quantity required at each yard, and the price asked per bolt must be stated in words at length. 2awtP&Std

Any communication left in their box at the Mechanics' Reading Room, in Wilson's Lane, will meet with prompt attention. 3t&ewtf d23

ELEGANT ENGLISH PERFUMERY.—JAS. & EDWARD ATKINSON, Perfumers, 24 Old Bond st, corner of Burlington Gardens, London, have supplied their Agent, J. A. DICKSON, 36 Cornhill, formerly Market street with a valuable quantity of the following articles, which have been generally approved—

FASHIONABLE SOAPS.

White Hands.—Atkinson's Almond Soap—made from the purest Oil of Almonds—uniting all the softening qualities of the Almond with the detergency of the common Alkaline Soap

Chapped Hands.—Camphor Soap—J. & E. E. A. recommend this Soap as containing a greater quantity of Camphor than has hitherto been considered practicable. It possesses all the cooling and other good qualities of that well known article.

For Family Use—Atkinson's old brown Windsor Soap.

Ambrosial Soap—It is made from pure vegetable oil, and is equally mild as the almond, only differing from it in perfume and color—the latter being a light brown, and the perfume a combination of those most generally approved.

The above, with every other new and fashionable Soap and Shaving Cakes, are always ready for exportation, and an allowance is always made on taking one or more dozen.

Atkinson's Concentrated Essence of Lavender—prepared four times the strength of the best Lavender Water, freed from all the empyreuma of the spirit, and unsophisticated with the sickly admixture of musk, ambergris, &c. The superiority of this article to Lavender Water is, that it is much more powerful and fragrant—it is also much cheaper, as there is four times more perfume of the Essence for the money, than in the best Lavender water in use.

Atkinson's Vegetable Dye—changes red or grey hair on the head, or whiskers to an auburn or black, so permanent that neither washing, perspiration, nor any other cause can in the least affect it.

Bear's Grease, for the growth of Hair—This article is procured from the animal in its native climate, it being known to possess more vivifying properties when so procured, than when the animal is in a domesticated state. It is of the finest quality, and is sent out without any admixture, except a little perfume to keep it sweet—and for the growth of hair it is no doubt far superior to any thing hitherto known. Also for dressing the hair it is very pleasant and useful—cleansing the head from dandriff, and making the hair beautifully soft and glossy.

Atkinson's Curling Fluid, or Vegetable Hair Oil—for dressing the Hair This article has been very generally patronised for the last twenty years—and is considered an indispensable appendage to the toilet—it is a most excellent article for dressing the hair, making it, however harsh, soft and glossy as silk—and keeping it in curl in exercise or damp weather.

Almond Shaving Paste—In very neat portable pots; a very elegant and excellent preparation for shaving.

Milk of Almonds—The most elegant and efficacious cosmetic hitherto introduced. It is a great improvement to what has long been known as Milk of Roses. It removes freckles, redness, roughness, &c. from the skin, and gives it a brilliant clearness and whiteness.

Atkinson's Depilatory—For removing superfluous Hair on the Face, Neck or Arms, with equal certainty and safety, leaving the skin softer and whiter than before the application.

Hudson's Botanic Tooth Powder and Tincture.—These Dentrifices, which have so much attracted the attention of the Medical Profession, are remedies for all disorders of the mouth; they not merely cleanse and beautify the Teeth, but preserve them from decay. They make the Teeth white, fasten such as are loose, eradicate the scurvy and tartar from the gums, leaving them firm and of a healthy redness, and if used regularly will supersede the necessity of a Dentist. They are entirely free of acid, and so innocent that a child may take the contents of a box of the Powder; and the Tincture is an excellent stomachic, and a certain remedy for the Toothache.

Hudson's Tooth Brushes—in sets of three—made on scientific principles, and warranted in bone and ivory.

Alla Ad Deen Mahomed's Dye—for changing the hair on the head, eyebrows or whiskers, to a permanent brown or black, by one application, without staining the skin for the finest linen.

Caution—Every article of James and Edward Atkinson's manufacture has their names and address distinct on the label, also—a small address stamp, similar to a patent medicine stamp, printed in colors. s9

THMSOONIAN BOTANIC INFIRMARY, No 554, Washington-street, BOSTON, Opposite the Worcester Rail Road Ticket Office.——The subscriber would inform his friends and the public, that he has taken that large and spacious Infirmary above named, and formerly occupied by Dr Brown and himself—that he has fitted it up in a style not surpassed by any other in the State for convenience and comfort: the rooms are large and airy, and command a fine prospect of the Worcester and Providence Rail Roads and the surrounding country on the West—Boston Harbor, its islands, shipping, light houses, &c. on the East, with the most pure air of any part of the city. The subscriber is also determined that nothing shall be wanting through every department of his Infirmary as to neatness and regularity, good order, the best of nursing and attention, to make every one who favors him with their patronage happy and contented. He has also a valuable library of the best selected books for the instruction and amusement of his patients. He has also in readiness clean changes of linen for all patients who come to take single courses of medicine, and India Rubber coverings for the mattrasses and beds he always uses to prevent contagion. His steam boxes have windows with curtains, so that patients who are feeble can at any time put out their heads and breathe fresh air. The boilers are so constructed that he can at any moment graduate the steam to suit their wish or ability to bear, so that there is not the least danger to the most feeble constitution, not even for an infant of a month old. The shower of two quarts of cold water is delicious, though we never insist on it, as it is always a matter of choice with the patients, and a person who has once taken it will never after be denied, but will frequently call for more. The said subscriber has owned Dr Samuel Thomson's family right nearly three years, has given strict attention to its precepts, and for the five last months has administered pure Thomsonian medicine to over two hundred persons, many of whom suffered under the most desperate complaints, and had been given over to die by the regular physicians—and such has been his success, that out of the whole number every individual except two persons have been relieved, and more than three fourths cured who have left his Infirmary, one only having died at the Infirmary. He will still continue to administer Thomsonian Medicines in their purity at his Infirmary, assisted by Dr Darling in all difficult cases, who has been a regular Practitioner of the Thomsonian System for more than fourteen years in this city. Mrs. Badger will attend to the Ladies department at all time—she having been an experienced nurse over eighteen years, a part of which time she was nurse in the Massachusetts General Hospital, since in private families, and for the two last years a strict Thomsonian nurse. The subscriber would respectively invite the afflicted of all descriptions to call and examine for themselves, and if they should see fit to put themselves under his care, let their disease be what it may, if timely application be made, he will ensure a speedy relief.

N.B. For sale at the above establishment, a general assortment of pure Thomsonian Medicines, done up with directions for use, at wholesale and retail.

s 18 P. D. BADGER, Botanic Physician.

PURE BEAR'S OIL may be had by the groce, dozen or single bottle, of A. BOYDEN, Hancock-st.

As in all cases, so especially in this, Venders, if they wish to secure the patronage of the public, should be extremely cautious not to sell an article for the Hair which tends to counteract rather than assist nature,

The virtues of Bear's Oil have been too long tested to need any eulogium; and at this time no one can doubt of its being the very best article for strengthening and promoting the growth of the Hair. An honest prejudice against the use of Bear's Oil has long existed, arising from two causes—the improper method of purifying it, and the imposition upon the public of a spurious article. That this prejudice may be wholly removed, this article now offered is warranted the pure Oil, rendered more pleasant by the addition of a little perfume—and the possibility of its injuring the Hair is entirely precluded by the manner in which it has been purified. To prevent fraud, the genuine is enclosed in two wrappers, the inside one being signed Arnold Boyden. aug 15

HAT, CAP AND FUR STORE.—CHARLES HODGES, 52 Hanover street, under the Hanover House opposite Elm street, Boston. Has a complete Stock of Fur and Silk Hats, Otter Fur, Seal, Cloth and Hair Seal Caps—madé expressly for the retail trade—Also Hats, Fur and Hair Seal Caps to sell by the dozen—Likewise Buffalo Robes, and Ladies Fur Capes and Boas, &c.—Hats of all kinds made to order. C. H. would just mention, that he has had many year's practice in the manufacture of Hats, and thereby confides in his ability to please all, who will favor him with their patronage.

A few Otter Fur Caps, not surpassed by any in the city.

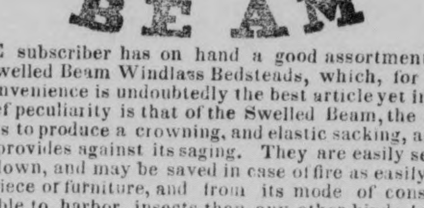
ADAMS'S PATENT



THE subscriber has on hand a good assortment of the Swelled Beam Windlass Bedsteads, which, for comfort and convenience is undoubtedly the best article yet invented; its chief peculiarity is that of the Swelled Beam, the effect of which is to produce a crowning, and elastic sacking, and effectually provides against its saging. They are easily set up or taken down, and may be saved in case of fire as easily as any other piece of furniture, and from its mode of construction less liable to harbor insects than any other kind; but above all its advantages is the ease and comfort obtained from the sacking, by means of its being made and kept elastic by means of the Swelled Beam, (the form of which is exhibited in the above cut.)

Orders thankfully received, and promptly attended to
